

At the centre of everything we do.

Establishing rapport and building relationships with people from a diverse range of backgrounds.

Engaging instinctively with people and understanding what makes them tick... Working in a highly professional team and drawing on your unique skills and perspectives.

As an Intelligence Officer you could be...

...discovering new leads, analysing data and working with our partner agencies as a Targeting Officer...

...building relationships and potentially recruiting people based overseas who can access secret intelligence as a Case Officer...

...or working closely with government, validating intelligence reports and briefing ministers as a Reporting Officer.

Explore the human side of intelligence.